

A blue-tinted portrait of Dr. Renata Emilsson Peskova, a woman with short dark hair and glasses, smiling slightly. The text is overlaid on the image.

FP TUL

DR. RENATA EMILSSON PESKOVA PRESENTING :

- Lessons learned from Iceland: Social justice, inclusion, and plurilingualism in diverse classrooms. Lekce z Islandu: Sociální spravedlnost, inkluze a vícejazyčnost v různorodých třídách.
- December 9th, 12:30 - 14:00, room P201, in Czech
- Plurilingualism at school: Heritage, second, foreign, minority, and sign languages acknowledged, included, and activated
- December 11th, 8:50 - 10:25, room P100, in English
- Educational linguistics in dialogue with inclusive pedagogy
- December 11th, 12:30 - 14:05, room P100, in English

Renata Emilsson Peskova, Ph.D., is an Associate Professor at the School of Education, University of Iceland. Renata's research interests are in the field of educational linguistics and include plurilingualism and multilingualism, linguistically responsive and plurilingual pedagogies, language policies, heritage and second language education, and linguistic identities.

WWW.FP.TUL.CZ